A. BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

Uganda Microcredit Foundation Ltd (UMF) is an indigenous microfinance company that was incorporated and started operations in 2008 in Uganda. Involved in small and medium credit financing, UMF positions itself with a mandate of championing the social economic transformation and also with a mandate of encouraging a saving culture of the people of Uganda. UMF offers microfinance services to its members at the grass root who are mainly involved in the informal sector. Many of such clients are disadvantaged in a way that the formal banking sector cannot easily extend financial services to them.

UMF as a growing microfinance institution in Uganda has had an impressive history in its five years of existence and now serves more than 3,000 clients. The business philosophy is to provide demand driven microfinance products and services with appropriate delivery methodologies that enable the low-income people to benefit in a profitable and sustainable way.

UMF prepared a 4-year business plan in 2013 with the help of a consultant. However, management and the Board were not sufficiently involved in developing the final version of the plan, which led to various unrealistic projections.

B. OVERALL OBJECTIVE

The overall goal of this assignment is to review and align the current business plan with the institutional strategic focus and industry dynamics, to position UMF as a competitive financial institution in the country and to define UMF’s growth plan for the next five years. The Consultant should apply a bottom-up approach and ensure that there is buy-in from all stakeholders in the final business plan.

C. SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

1. Conduct a gap analysis to identify discrepancies between the current business plan and the views of all stakeholders (Board, management, staff).
2. Review current industry dynamics and determine how they should factor in the business plan.
3. Prepare a draft 5-year business plan and present it to the Board and senior management.
4. Incorporate the feedback and produce a final 5-year business plan.

D. DELIVERABLES

1. Revised 5-year business plan
E. LOCATION

The Consultant shall be based in Kampala for the duration of the contract with potential travel to the branch offices.
